The Secretary welcomed Dr Hugh Brock, Director of Continuing Education; Ms Melody Burton, University Librarian Pro Tem.; and Acting Dean of Arts Kathryn Harrison to Senate, replacing

Business Arising from the Minutes

In response to a question raised at the previous meeting, the Acting Secretary, Mr Eaton, advised that at that last meeting, a question was raised by a senator from Medicine regarding the definition of academic units. The information in question was emailed to the senator.

Remarks from the Chair

The President advised Senate that he had recently sent an email to the campus community regarding the start of a strategic planning process. He noted that he had met with the Committee of Deans earlier in the day, and that their own faculty plans would be integral to a broader UBC plan. Dr Ono suggested that this process would take around a year to complete.

Dr Ono advised that several important search processes were underway: for a Provost and Vice-President Academic, for a Vice-President Research and International, and for a Senior Advisor to the President. He thanked Provost Pro Tem. Redish for her work over the past and next year, and noted that there were two options for processes for finding her successor – open and closed. He suggested to the Senate that he would prefer an open processes, with the two or three finalized identified and brought to campus for comments and feedback from the community before a final decision was reached.

Tributes Committee

Dr Paul Keown presented on behalf of Sally Thorne

Charles E Slonecker

A well-known figure on campus, Dr. Charles (Chuck) Slonecker first joined UBC in 1968 as an assistant professor in Dentistry. He became a full professor in 1976, and then served as Head of the Anatomy Department from 1984 to 1995.

Throughout his long career he won numerous prizes, including a Certificate of Merit for the UBC Master Teacher Award (1976), the Killam Teaching Prize for UBC Medicine (1996), and the JCB Grant Award from the Canadian Association for Anatomy, Neurobiology and Cell Biology.

Although Dr. Slonecker’s academic interests were in Cellular Immunology – he produced 19 publications, five book reviews, 16 special publications, one text book and 25 abstracts – a large proportion of his time at UBC was focused on University Administration and Medical Education. Over the course of his 35 year career, Dr. Slonecker served over 17 years as a Senator, first as a representative of the Joint Faculties and later as a representative of the Faculty of Medicine. He was also a member of numerous President’s Advisory Committees, and a volunteer with the UBC Development Office and United Way Campaign, and a member of the Board of the UBC Alumni Association. Alongside this commitment, Dr. Slonecker became the director of Ceremonies 1990, a position he held until his retirement in 2003, and spent two years as the acting vice president of External Relations at UBC in the mid-90s. As part of this role Dr. Slonecker oversaw all the academic ceremonies related to Congregation; Awards Presentations for students, faculty and staff; and Community Relations activities.

Dr. Slonecker continued to chair the Student Discipline Committee and participate in other committees even after his retirement, and was the recipient of the President’s Service Award for Excellence in 2001. He was made an Honorary Alumnus of UBC the same year.

To his family and friends, the Senate and the University of British Columbia offers their condolences and thanks.

Dr. John Dennison

Professor Emeritus John D. Dennison was actively involved in the development of the higher education system in British Columbia from the early 1960s. A prolific researcher into community colleges in particular, throughout his career Dr. Dennison was involved in over 60 research studies, authored more than 100 articles and wrote four books on the subject. He was closely involved in the development of Capilano College in particular. Having moved to Canada in the 1950s, Dr. Dennison had received both his BA and MA in Physical Education from UBC by 1960. He returned to teach at UBC in 1962, after spending a year at the University of Manitoba, and went on to earn his doctorate in Education from Washington State University in 1967.

Dr. Dennison served on Senate for more than 20 years between September 1972 and August 1993, holding a number of positions including Representative of Joint Faculties and representative of the Faculty of Education, as well as chairing the Tributes Committee for many years. In 2002, after retiring, Dr. Dennison was again appointed to Senate, this time as the Representative of St Mark’s College.

Alongside his responsibilities at UBC, Dr. Dennison also served as the co-chair of the British Columbia Council on Admissions and Transfer from 1993-99. There he dealt with both the theory and practice of student mobility and transfer credit within the province, describing the “parity of esteem” among institutions as “the ideal goal in a diverse galaxy of post-secondary institutions.”
Dr. Dennison was the recipient of a number of high profile awards: amongst others he was awarded the UBC’ President’s Award for Excellence, the Canadian Society for the Study of Higher Education’s Distinguished Member award, and he was named Millennium Professor of Higher Education by the American Association of Professors of Community College Education in the year 2000. In addition, he received an Honorary Doctor of Laws from Thompson Rivers University, an Honorary Doctor of letters from Kwantlan University College and a Doctorate in Sacred Letters from St Mark’s College, all in 2002.

To his family and friends, the Senate and the University of British Columbia offers their condolences and thanks.

Dr. Leslie Peterson

Chancellor Emeritus Leslie Raymond Peterson was born on a farm in 1923 near Viking, Alberta. Aged 14 he began working part time to fund his education, first at Camrose Lutheran College and then at McGill University, before breaking off his studies in 1942 to join the Canadian Army. He served overseas until 1946, and, while stationed in England, furthered his education at the University of London.

After leaving the Army Dr. Peterson came to UBC to study Law, graduating in 1949, and in 1952 he founded the law firm Peterson and Anderson here in Vancouver. This firm later merged with Boughton Jensen McConnell, but in 1956 Dr. Peterson was elected to the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia, for Vancouver Centre. Dr. Peterson held this seat until 1968, at which point he was elected as MLA for Vancouver – Little Mountain.

Overall Dr. Peterson served 16 consecutive years in provincial cabinet posts, including as Minister of Education, Minister of Labour, and Attorney General. Throughout this period he opened over 100 schools, oversaw the creation of both the British Columbia Institute of Technology and Simon Fraser University, and established the Provincial Court of British Columbia.

Dr. Peterson returned to the private practice of law at Boughton & Co. in 1972, focusing on administrative and transportation law, but continued to make time for extensive community service, supporting numerous community organizations including the BC Historical Association, the Canadian Child Health Association, the Shriners, and the Vancouver Aquarium.

In 1978 Dr. Peterson was appointed to the Board of Governors of UBC; he was Chair of the Board from 1979 to 1983, and elected Chancellor by the Convocation from 1987 to 1993. During this period he saw over 36,000 students pass before him at graduation, as well as working to equalize opportunities for all students, no matter their financial means. Dr. Peterson was awarded the Order of British Columbia in 1990, conferred an Honorary Doctor of Laws by UBC in 1993, and appointed a Member of the Order of Canada in 2000.

To his family and friends, the Senate and the University of British Columbia offers their condolences and thanks.

Senator Jaeger noted that this was further to a series of proposal from last year.

EARLY OFFERS OF ADMISSION ON GRADE 11 GRADES

Dr Jaeger noted that over the summer, the Senate Admissions Committee approved under Policy J-52 a procedural change that allowed UBC to make interim offers on the basis of final grade 11 grades in place of interim grade 12 grades.

Dr Anstee noted that this was a big change in a way, but all evidence indicates that this will not change the kinds of students admitted. He suggested that he was in favour of the idea but felt that it should come to Senate for approval rather than for information.

Dr Harrison noted that some student did have grade 12 grades in their grade 11 year already, so this would push decisions earlier for students with fewer grade 12 grades. He reminded Senate that all of these offers were conditional.

Report from the President

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE OMBUDSPERSON FOR STUDENTS

President Ono introduced Ms Shirley R. Nakata, Ombudsperson for students, who with consent of Senate presented her office’s annual report.

Ms Nakata reminded Senate that her office’s mandate was to help ensure students were treated fairly in every aspect of their university life. As advocates for fairness, the Ombudsperson were impartial, confidential, and independent, and worked with students to build their capacity, and with the University to promote fair policies, processes and outcomes.

The Ombudsperson noted that her office was funded by both the University and the Vancouver students. In September 2013 the Ombudsoffice opened an office in Kelowna; however, earlier this year the student union announced that they would no longer fund the office and thus it has now been closed. In the meantime, the Vancouver office has been trying to respond to Okanagan inquirers but we likely will not have the resources to do so next term.
Ms Nakata noted that her office opened in 20089 with 51 cases, growing to 468 two years ago, and 489 last year across both campuses. Of the 377 visitors from Vancouver, 185 were undergraduate, 99 graduate, 25 post-baccalaureate, 16 staff, and 52 other types of persons. A plurality of concerns – 194 – were academic in nature, with interpersonal conflicts next at 83.

Ms Nakata stated that the goal of the Ombudsoffice is to humanize the bureaucracy, and sit at then nexus between the governed and governing.

Ms Nakata highlighted three recommendations for the University from the past year:
1) For international students in particular, consider the adverse effect of seemingly neutral rules. Can we adjust or recalibrate to make the process of orientation more mutual?
2) For practica and clinical settings, issues often arise with interpersonal conflicts and assessment disputes. She suggested clearer expectations, criteria, and processes.
3) Suitability vs Misconduct. Faculties can proceed down either path in some instances if they are not satisfied with the conduct of a student, and we need less ambiguous criteria around which process is invoked.

Dean Dauvergne stated that she appreciated this report coming to Senate and the work of the ombudsoffice with the Faculty of Law. There is a lot of bureaucracy at UBC and the ombudsoffice helps deans humanize it.

Senator Forwell noted that 377 cases were followed in the last year. She asked if we knew what the outcomes were.

Shirley said they do follow up with the students to ask them how it went. We also have a satisfaction survey that asks about outcomes, but not all chose to respond.

Senator Forwell noted that for a large university, we still had a relatively small number of both ombuds files and appeals.

The President asked if that was a small number

Shirley replied that it was consistent with Canada. We do a good job with points of entry, and a small number of students will give up or not know of resources.

Senator Singh noted that in his interaction with students, many did not seem to hear of the office. What kids of advertising was done, especially for international students.

Shirley replied that they just updated their website and did a poster campaign. They had a small 2 person office and relied on others to an extent to talk about ombuds services and many offices did refer students.

Reports from the Provost
NEW CHAIR: RURAL DOCTORS’ UBC CHAIR IN RURAL HEALTH

Angela Redish
Paul Keown

That Senate approve the establishment of a new chair, to be named the Rural Doctors’ UBC Chair in Rural Health.

CONSULTATION ON BOARD POLICY 131: SEXUAL ASSAULT

The Provost introduced Associate Vice-President Equity and Inclusion Sara-Jane Finlay, who with permission of Senate presented on the proposed Board Policy 131: Sexual Assault

Dr Finlay presented on the policy, explain that it was a description and clarification of current processes. Its goal is to ensure clarity and consistency in response to sexual assaults and sets out principles and values. She explained that getting those principles correct is important as a starting point for improvement.

Dr Finlay then set out the remit of the Sexual Assault Panel formed, and explained its differences from the policy committee.

Dr Finlay set out the policy committee, noting that Professor Justice had yet to be involved due to family circumstances, and that Dr Mirwaldt would be going on leave shortly and thus would not be participating further.

A number of key drivers informed the policy, including a literature review based on research in BC, Canada, and the United States; feedback from the University panel, consultation with key stakeholders, the Butler Review; and the UBC GSS Sexual Assault policy.

Key principles for the policy are a survivor-driven process, clarity regarding processes, informing education and quipping our community to respond to disclosers, fairness and natural justice; and confidentiality and privacy.

Dr Finlay explained that the policy covered faculty staff and students, and could address allegations made against a member of the UBC community on the basis of their contractual relationship with UBC. We don’t have the ability to address allegations against people who are not part of our community however we can use policy 14 to limit their access to campus. Scope of the policy includes students, staff and faculty, as well as post-doctoral fellows. Jurisdiction will be based on allegations against members of the university community based upon their relationship with UBC. For those without a relationship with UBC, Policy 14 can be used to limit access to campus.

Senator Singh noted that in the US, statistics state that 15 to 20 percent of female students have reported sexual assaults but the reporting number was very low. In the case of UBC some cases have taken more time than in reasonable. He asked firstly how we could approach having a policy that people can have faith in. He secondly noted students who go away on exchange are in a real danger as they are in more precarious situations and we need to review the policies of schools where we have exchange agreements.

Dr Ono noted that they had met today with the panel members and building trust takes time and acknowledgement of issues and indication of commitment.

Senator Baimbridge asked what UBC’s role would be if a case became part of the judicial system.

    Dr Finlay said it was up to the survivor. They could report to us or the police or both. They are different processes and offered different resolutions.

Senator Richardson asked what natural justice meant in this policy, having looked up the term and noting that it was the Canadian term for what the US called due process. He asked if we would set out what natural justice meant in the policy itself.

    Dr Finlay explained that it was defined term in the framework of Canadian administrative law.

Senator Forwell thanked Dr Finlay for the body of work. She asked that it be clear that this policy covers students on or off campus, noting that there were grey areas were people were unclear if they should inform UBC.

    Dr Finlay replied that we have the ability to proceed in situations where we had a contractual relationship with the individual. For instance, Faculty/Staff/Students could be suspended, terminated or expelled. She noted that it becomes more difficult with those with whom we have no contractual relationship – our only power is to ban them from campus under policy 14. That said, we have other relationships we could use – not placing students in dangerous co-ops, or never hiring contractors again.

Senator C Marshall asked about the relationship with the AMS sexual assault support centre, as for many students there is a sense that this is where they should be going.

    Dr Finlay relied that there was expertise there to support survivors. We have had conversations and consultations with them as UBC develops its policies and education plans.

PROVOST’S OFFICE INITIATIVES

Dr Redish outlined her office’s planned initiatives for this academic year.

1) Supporting the president in developing a strategic plan.
2) Faculty housing program to support the recruitment and retention of faculty members.
3) SIS renewal.
4) Graduate Funding. PhD Support, particularly for international students who don’t have access to tricouncil funding.
5) Dentistry and Librarian searches.
6) New School development
   a. School of Public Policy in Arts
   b. Biomedical Engineering in Applied Science and Medicine.

Senator Richardson noted Neil Guppy’s new appointment as Senior Advisory on Academic Freedom.

   Dean Parlange noted that Dr Guppy had been meeting with Deans, Associate Deans and Heads since appointed earlier in the summer.

   Dr Redish added that he and her office had also been doing preliminary work on a conference on academic freedom. She agreed to have more information on his role brought to the next meeting of Senate.

Senator Lam asked if the biomedical engineering school would be responsible for the biomedical engineering program.

   Dean Parlange replied that we do not yet have a Biomedical Engineering specialization but that one was under development. Existing programs are options within other specializations.

Other Business

Dr Richard Anstee gave the following notice of motion:

"That Senate amend its Rules and Procedures to add a new section to follow Section 29 to read as follows: Section 29 notwithstanding, any Senator appointed to a committee of Senate may ask - by giving written or verbal notice through the Secretary or the Committee Chair - that a matter proposed for approval by that committee (or already approved by that committee within one month of the notice) under delegated authority of Senate be not considered approved under that delegated authority and instead be brought to Senate for approval, provided that the matter is not an appeal or an otherwise confidential matter."

Adjournment

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned at 7:52 pm.

Dr. David Measday

Dr. Measday moved to Vancouver in 1970, joining what was then the Department of Physics to work with the new TRIUMF accelerator, which was still under construction.

Born in London in 1937, as a child Dr. Measday was twice evacuated to the English countryside to avoid bombing during the Second World War. He then went on to study at Kings College School in Wimbledon and Wadham College, Oxford, where he obtained both a Bachelor of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy.

Before moving to Canada, Dr. Measday spent three years as a post-doctoral fellow at Harvard University’s Cyclotron Laboratory, developing a mono-energetic neutron beam and measuring the neutron-proton interaction. He also spent some years working as a post-doctoral fellow in Geneva, Switzerland, before joining the staff at the Synchrocyclotron at CERN.

After taking up his position at UBC, Dr. Measday continued to travel, spending time experimenting at both the University of Washington in Seattle and at Berkeley, where he studied various properties of pions and muons.

Dr. Measday became Associate Dean of Science in 1990, and took on the role of Acting Dean from 1997 to 1998, serving as a member of Senate in this capacity. During his tenure, Dr. Measday led the Faculty of Science through the move to computer-centred laboratories, as well as assisting with the reorganization of the Departments within the Faculty.

After his retirement in 2002 Dr. Measday continued to teach, but also served as treasurer of the Professors Emeriti for four years and a member of the President's Advisory Committee on Campus Enhancement.

To his family and friends, the Senate and the University of British Columbia offers its condolences and thanks.

One of Canada’s most distinguished philosophers, and a popular and dedicated teacher, Dr. Donald Brown graduated from UBC in 1947 with a Bachelor of Arts in Honours Philosophy. He went on to obtain a further BA in Philosophy, Politics and Economics from Corpus Christi College, Oxford, in 1950, before receiving his Doctor of Philosophy from Magdalen College, Oxford, in 1955.

Returning to UBC’s Philosophy Department – first as an Assistant Professor and later as a Full Professor – and, apart from one year spent teaching at Magdalen College in the late 1950s, he remained there until his retirement in 1985. Dr. Brown served as a Representative of the Joint Faculties on Senate between 1969 and 1975.

Outside of his academic career, Dr. Brown served on the Ethics Committee of the Vancouver General Hospital and, along with a number of his friends and colleagues, was a founder of the B.C. Civil Liberties Association.
To his family and friends, the Senate and the University of British Columbia offers its condolences and thanks.

Dr. Janet Stein

Born in Denver, CO, in October 1930, Janet Ruth Stein Taylor went on to graduate with a BA from the University of Colorado in 1951, and a Master of Arts from Wellesley College in 1953. Dr. Stein obtained her Doctor of Philosophy in Botany at the University of California, Berkeley, in 1957, and soon after won the ‘Dorbaker Award’ for the best phycological paper published in North America in 1960.

Dr. Stein joined UBC’s Department of Botany in 1959, having spent a couple of years working as a Technician at Berkeley and taking up various visiting positions at both the University Teachers Institute at Indiana University and the University of Minnesota Biological Station. After five years at UBC Dr. Stein became an Assistant Professor, and did much to shift gender imbalances within the Department of Botany and the Faculty of Science more generally; she went on to lead the Departmental advising group, and also served as Associate Dean of Science.

From September 1972 to December 1974 Dr. Stein was a Representative of the Joint Faculties on Senate, and she served again, this time representing the Faculty of Science, from 1984 until her retirement in 1985.

Beyond UBC, over the course of her career Dr. Stein was variously Director, Vice-President and President of the Canadian Botanical Association, and Treasurer and President of the Phycological Society of America, as well as editing a number of journals and new bulletins. Her research interests centred on the Freshwater and Estuarine Algae of British Columbia, but Dr. Stein also led extensive fieldwork and data base preparation for what is now part of the E-Flora of BC: Electronic Atlas of Plants of British Columbia.

To her family and friends, the Senate and the University of British Columbia offers its condolences and thanks.

Re: a) Bachelor of Environmental Design – Changes in Admission Requirements (approval)
b) Policy J-55: Third Party Recruitment Agreements (approval)

a) Bachelor of Environmental Design (approval)(circulated)

The Committee has reviewed and recommends to Senate for approval changes in admission requirements for applicants to the Bachelor of Environmental Design program. Applicants must present a minimum 65% average calculated on the most recently completed 30 credits of coursework. The proposal also removes Physics as an admission requirement and includes a number of editorial changes for clarity.

_Motion:_ That Senate approve changes in admission requirements for applicants to the Bachelor of Environmental Design program, effective for admission to the 2017 Winter Session and thereafter.

b) Policy J-55: Third Party Recruitment Agreements (approval)(circulated)

The Admissions Committee recommends that Senate approve Policy J-55: Policy on Third Party Recruitment Agreements.

In May 2006, guidelines on third party recruiting were approved by the Senate, upon the recommendation of the Committee. The guidelines were developed by a sub-committee of the Admissions Committee with the following goals in mind:

- to protect and promote UBC’s reputation worldwide;
- to minimize foreseeable risks in dealing with third party recruiters;
- to protect any individual degree program from becoming dependent on an individual recruiter for its viability; and
- to protect students from unscrupulous recruiting practices.

The landscape for international student recruitment has changed significantly since 2006 and the Committee felt that the earlier guidelines were insufficient in detail and scope to adequately govern the University’s use of recruitment agents. Revision to previous guidelines was also prompted by the increased engagement of academic units with third-party recruitments. To undertake its review and develop a comprehensive policy on third-party recruitment agreements, the Committee struck a working group, with the following membership:

- Dr. Peter Marshall (Chair, Senate Curriculum Committee, UBC-V)
- Ms. Susan Allan (Associate Director, International Student Initiative, UBC-O)
- Dr. Paul Harrison (Joint Faculties Representative, Faculty of Science, UBC-V)
- Mr. Jens Locher (Director, Strategic Business Projects, Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies, UBC-V)
- Ms. Karen McKellin (Executive Director, International Student Initiative)
- Dr. Pam Ratner (Vice-Provost and Associate Vice-President Enrolment and Academic Facilities)
- Dr. Greg Wetterstrand (Faculty of Education, UBC-O)

Policy J-55 is a joint effort by the Vancouver Senate Admissions Committee and the Okanagan Senate Admissions and Awards Committee. Through the efforts of these two committees, and of the Third-Party Recruitment Working Group, as well as extensive consultations across both campuses, Joint Policy J-55 was produced to provide binding regulation regarding the place of third-party recruitment agents within UBC’s academic system.

The associated draft interpretive and procedural guide is intended to serve as an example of the guidance that may be provided to academic and other units interested in engaging with recruitment agents and agencies. The guidelines detail the steps that must be taken by units interested in working with recruitment agents and agencies before the University will enter into an agreement with an agent or agency. It is anticipated that the guidelines will be reviewed and revised prior to implementation, and that the manner in which policy J-55 is implemented will continue to evolve over time. It is circulated herein for information only.

The policy will be reviewed by the Okanagan Senate on 27 October 2016.

The Committee is pleased to recommend the following:

Motion: that Senate approve Policy J-55: Third Party Recruitment Agreements.

Respectfully submitted,

Dr. Robert Sparks

Proposed Calendar Entry:

Admission to the Bachelor of Environmental Design requires completion of the equivalent of 60 UBC credits including 6 credits of English literature and/or composition and 6 credits of Geography. Physical geography is highly recommended.

Applicants must have achieved an overall academic average of 65% or better, including any failed courses, on the most recent 30 credits of post-secondary course work, in order to be considered for admission to the Bachelor of Environmental Design. The overall average is calculated in accordance with the general admission requirements for undergraduate applicants from a college or university.

All applicants to the B.En.D. are required to demonstrate competence in the English language prior to application. Applicants are directed to UBC’s English Language Admission Standard for further information.

APPLICATION PROCESS

Application for admission to the Bachelor of Environmental Design program must be made through UBC.

Present Calendar Entry:

Students apply for admission to the Bachelor of Environmental Design Program for autumn, third-year matriculation. Prospective students enrol in a first-year university program of their choice at a recognized university or college. For first-year admission requirements students are directed to the admission requirements of those institutions and their respective programs of study. Students must complete the UBC equivalent of 60 credits during their first two years of study. First- and second-year coursework must include the equivalent of 6 credits of English in literature and composition, 6 credits of geography (physical geography is highly recommended), and 3 credits of lower-level physics. Additional recommendations for preparatory study are available from ENDS.

Admission to the ENDS Program is competitive; the program accepts a maximum of 25 students per year. Admission is based on the student's Enrolment Services no later than the published deadline. The applicant is responsible for ensuring that all supporting documents, including official transcripts, and fees are submitted by the deadlines provided by UBC following the submission of an application, otherwise the application will not be considered.

Applicants to the Bachelor of Environmental Design must satisfy both University undergraduate admission requirements and B.En.D. requirements including the submission of a Supplemental Application to the Environmental Design Program.

New or previous UBC students must complete an on-line application. Current students must complete the Change of Degree Program/Campus form on the Student Service Centre.

MATURE APPLICANTS
Consideration will be given to applicants applying to the Bachelor of Environmental Design as a mature applicant. Further information is available here.

SUPPLEMENTAL APPLICATION
A Supplemental Application to the Environmental Design Program must be submitted no later than the published deadline.

Detailed information on the Supplemental Application to the Environmental Design Program is available from the Environmental Design website.

Students seeking transfer from other universities and colleges may be granted advanced credit for parallel courses in the first two years of the UBC curricula where standings obtained are above minimum passing grade at those institutions.

Basic skill with design-oriented digital media and processes is fundamental to effective participation in ENDS design and media courses. Prior to autumn matriculation, students admitted to ENDS must register for the Digital Media Workshop (fee-based class).

To petition out of the Design Media Workshop, students must show evidence of competency with all of the following digital media skills:

- graphic/digital image processing (e.g., Photoshop)
- layout applications (e.g., InDesign, Illustrator)
- 2D drawing (e.g., AutoCAD, Vectorworks)
- 3D modeling (e.g., FormZ, Maya)

For detailed program and admission information, please visit ENDS. Inquiries can be made to the ENDS Program Office directly.

INTRODUCTION

In 2013, following nearly two years of deliberation, the National Association for College Admission Counselling (NACAC) amended its Statement of Principles of Good Practice¹ to permit members to recruit international students through third-party recruitment agencies.² This change has contributed to a significant expansion in engagement with third-party recruitment agents, which has long been standard practice in Australia and the United Kingdom, by North American post-secondary institutions.³

Engagement with third-party recruitment agents offer significant potential rewards to institutions of higher education. Agents allow for efficient and cost-effective recruitment in international markets, and offer institutions language skills, cultural familiarity and a constant in-country presence that may not be available through in-house recruitment professionals.⁴ Further, there is an expectation of agent involvement among students and parents in some regions that may put institutions that do not engage with recruitment agents at a competitive disadvantage.⁵

This recruitment strategy also comes with significant risks. Misrepresentation by agents can cause irreparable damage to an institutional brand, improper agent involvement in student applications can undermine the integrity of the admissions process,⁶ and the agent-institution relationship can give rise to significant unanticipated legal liabilities.⁷

In a 2013 report, the Council of Ministers of Education, Canada noted that institutional practice regarding third-party recruitment agent management varied widely within Canada, but that those with long-established agent networks with minimal turnover reported the greatest confidence in, and satisfaction with, their agent partners.⁸ Similarly, the findings of a 2014 study funded by the British Council emphasized the need for “a clear set of processes for the management of agent relationships.”⁹ These reports highlight the importance of a rigorous and coordinated process for selecting and vetting potential agent partners.

The Joint Policy of the UBC Vancouver and Okanagan Senates on Third-Party Recruitment (J-55), adopted by the Vancouver Senate on ___________ and the Okanagan Senate on _____________, represent a part of the University of British Columbia’s response to the opportunities and challenges posed by third-party recruitment agent engagement.

Prior to the adoption of Joint Policy J-55, engagement with third-party recruitment agents and agencies was governed by Third Party Recruiting Guidelines approved by the Vancouver Senate on 16 May 2006. The guidelines were a response to the desire of academic units to engage with third-party recruitment agents and agencies, and the need for Senate to provide guidance to units, and to regulate the place of third-party agents and agencies in the University’s recruitment and admission process.

Joint Policy J-55 developed out of a joint effort by the Senate Admissions Committee of the Vancouver Senate and the Admissions and Awards Committee of the Okanagan Senate to update the 2006 Guidelines. Through the efforts of these two committees, and of the Third-Party Recruitment Working Group, as well as extensive consultations across both campuses, Joint Policy J-55 was produced to provide binding regulation regarding the place of third-party recruitment agents within UBC’s academic system.

The procedural requirements contained within this guide provide guidance to academic and other units interested in engaging with recruitment agents and agencies. The guidelines detail the steps that must be taken by units interested in working with recruitment agents and agencies before the University will enter into an agreement with an agent or agency.

Units may engage with third-party recruitment agents and agencies only in compliance with the terms of Joint Policy J-55 and the procedures set out in this guide. Engagement of any sort with recruitment agents and agencies that does not comply with Joint Policy J-55 and this procedural guide may result in significant legal and financial consequences for units and/or the University.
INSERT FINAL POLICY ONCE APPROVED
PROCEDURAL REQUIREMENTS

Overview

Paragraph 3 of Joint Senate Policy J-55 prohibits units within the University from entering into agreements with recruitment agents and agencies independently of the University:

All recruitment agreements must be entered into on behalf of the University in accordance with this policy and must be signed pursuant to the applicable Signing Resolution. Units do not have the authority to enter into recruitment agreements independently of the University.

Paragraph 4 of Joint Senate Policy J-55 does permit units within the University to recommend that the University enter into agreements with recruitment agents or agencies, provided that units making such recommendations satisfy several requirements prior to making the recommendation:

Units may recommend that the University enter into a recruitment agreement with a recruitment agent or agency. Prior to making such a recommendation, the unit must:

- Perform proper and sufficient due diligence to ensure that the recruitment agent or agency is bona fide and of good repute;
- Ensure that it has the capacity to support and manage the activities of the recruitment agent or agency such that it can ensure that the recruitment agreement would not result in any risk to the integrity of the University’s admission processes or any adverse legal or reputational effects on the University or any unit.
- Ensure that it has the capacity to monitor the activities of the recruitment agent or agency such that it can ensure that the recruitment agent or agency is in compliance with the recruitment agreement.
- Ensure that the unit is not so reliant on the services provided in a recruitment agreement that a loss of the agreement would threaten the viability of the unit.

The process for entering into an agreement with a recruitment agent or agency to provide recruitment services is flexible, and will depend on the nature of the relationship contemplated, and the needs and resources of the proposing unit, but may consist of some or all of the following steps.

1) Preparation of proposal to engage with third-party recruitment agent;
2) Submission of proposal to the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office;
3) Decision of coordinating office;
4) Selection and vetting of third-party recruitment agent;
5) Negotiation and entry into agreement with third-party recruitment agent.
Recommendation Process

STEP 1: PREPARATION OF PROPOSAL TO ENGAGE WITH A THIRD-PARTY RECRUITMENT AGENT

The first step in commencing a relationship with a recruitment agent or agency is preparation of a proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent.

Units must not communicate with any prospective third-party recruitment agent or agency for the purpose of procuring the services of a third-party recruitment agent prior to completing and submitting a proposal.

The proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent must clearly address the following topics:

1) Existing student recruitment initiatives:

   How is the unit currently seeking to attract students?

2) Outcomes of existing student recruitment initiatives:

   How many students have been enrolled in the program at each year level over the past five years? What proportion of these students have been international students? What other demographic features of the unit's student body are important in assessing existing and future recruitment initiatives?

3) Changes sought to student recruitment outcomes:

   Why is the unit reviewing its student recruitment practices? What problems or shortcomings is a new approach to student recruitment expected to resolve?

4) Alternative approaches considered:

   Aside from engagement with recruitment agents or agencies, what solutions have been considered? Why are these alternative solutions insufficient to resolve the problems or shortcomings identified?

5) Expected benefits of engagement with recruitment agent or agency:

   Why does the unit expect that engagement with a recruitment agent or agency will resolve the problems or shortcomings identified? Into which programs will the unit be seeking to recruit students using recruitment agents?

6) Region or students to be targeted:

   In what geographical region does the unit require assistance in recruiting? Is there a particular type of student the unit wishes to target?
7) Resources available to manage agent relationship:

What human and financial resources can the unit devote to managing an agent relationship on an ongoing basis?

8) How does engagement with a third-party recruitment agent for the purposes identified fit within the strategic plans of the unit and of the University of British Columbia?

The proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent must include the information listed above, and may include such other information as the unit believes will be of assistance in assessing the proposal.
STEP 2: SUBMISSION OF PROPOSAL TO ENGAGE WITH A THIRD-PARTY RECRUITMENT AGENT

The completed proposal must be submitted, along with any supporting documentation, to the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office for the campus on which the proposing unit is housed.

The designated third-party recruitment coordinating office for UBC Okanagan and UBC Vancouver are as follows:

1. UBC Okanagan

   TBD

2. UBC Vancouver

   TBD

Once the proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent has been submitted to the appropriate designated third-party recruitment coordinating office, no steps towards engaging with any third-party recruitment agent may be taken prior to receiving a response from the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office.
STEP 3: RESPONSE TO PROPOSAL TO ENGAGE WITH THIRD-PARTY
RECRUITMENT AGENT

Following the submission of a proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent, the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office will consider the proposal in detail. No steps towards engaging with third-party recruitment agents should be taken by any unit while a proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent from that unit is under consideration.

As part of considering the proposal, the designated recruitment coordinating office may request any additional information from the proposing unit that it considers relevant to its consideration of the proposal.

In assessing a proposal, the designated recruitment coordinating office will consider the University’s existing relationships with third-party recruitment agents and will consult as necessary with other units to ensure a coordinated approach to third-party recruitment.

Following full consideration of the proposal, the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office will issue one of the following responses:

1) Engagement not Warranted or not Feasible

The proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent has failed to adequately justify the need for engagement with a third-party recruitment agent or the proposal has adequately justified the need for engagement, but for other reasons, engagement is not feasible at the present time.

No further steps toward engagement may be taken by the proposing unit, or by the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office.

Units are at liberty to submit a new proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent at any time following the decision of the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office.

2) Engagement Warranted and Feasible – Designated Office will Coordinate Engagement

The proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent has adequately justified the need for engagement with a third-party recruitment agent and engagement is feasible at the present time.

The University has existing relationships with third-party recruitment agents that will meet the unit’s needs, or the designated third-party recruitment agent coordinating office has the resources and ability to initiate a new relationship with a third-party recruitment agent that will meet the unit’s needs.

The designated third-party recruitment agent coordinating office, in consultation with the unit, will coordinate the commencement of the relationship between the unit and the agent, and will perform any necessary vetting of the agent on the unit’s behalf.
3) Engagement Warranted and Feasible – Unit must Coordinate Engagement

The proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent has adequately justified the need for engagement with a third-party recruitment agent and engagement is feasible at the present time.

The University does not have existing relationships with third-party recruitment agents that will meet the unit’s needs, and the designated third-party recruitment agent coordinating office is unable to initiate a new relationship with a third-party recruitment agent that will meet the unit’s needs.

The proposing unit may itself seek to initiate a relationship with a third-party recruiting agent in accordance with the requirements set out in Step 4 of this guide. The unit is responsible for vetting any prospective third-party recruitment agents. If, following the vetting process, the unit wishes to engage with a third-party recruitment agent, the unit must present a report detailing the results of the vetting process to the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office.

Any agreement with a third-party recruitment agent must be entered into with the assistance of the University Counsel Office, and signed pursuant to the appropriate signing authority. Units must not enter into agreements with third-party recruitment agents independently of the University.
STEP 4: SELECTION AND VETTING OF THIRD-PARTY RECRUITMENT AGENT

Where the response to a proposal to engage with a third-party recruitment agent is “Engagement Warranted and Feasible – Unit must Coordinate Engagement”, the proposing unit must complete an identification and vetting process.

The identification and vetting process is flexible, and will vary depending on the nature of the relationship contemplated, and the needs and resources of the proposing unit. The steps that may be included in this process could include those outlined below.

A detailed and accurate record of all steps taken during the identification and vetting process must be kept and presented to the designated third-party recruitment agent coordinating office.

1) Identification of Prospective Third-Party Agent Partners

A short list of prospective third-party agent partners should be compiled. Prospective partners can be identified from the following sources:

a. Review of lists of certified agents published by regulatory bodies such as
   a. American International Recruitment Council;
   b. British Council;
   c. Australian Education International (QEAC Database); and

b. Review of agency member lists published by other top-tier Canadian, American and International universities;

c. Consultation with the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office;

d. Consultation with other University of British Columbia units engaged with third-party recruitment agents in the region of interest; and

e. Consultation with national and regional agency associations.

2) Invitation to Complete the UBC Agent Application Form

Prospective third-party agent partners listed by the proposing unit can be invited to complete a UBC Agent Application Form. A sample of such a form is attached to this guide as Appendix ‘A’. This sample should be revised as necessary to suit the circumstances of the proposing unit.

The proposing unit must review all completed UBC Agent Application Forms, and identify prospective third-party recruitment agent partners likely to be capable of providing the services sought by the proposing unit without jeopardizing the ability of the unit and the University to remain in compliance with the Joint Senate Policy J-55: Third-Party Recruitment Agreements.
3) Confirm Professional Affiliations and Memberships and Canada Course Completion

To the extent possible, the proposing unit must verify the validity of all professional affiliations and memberships claimed by any third-party recruitment agent that has completed the UBC Agent Application Form.

The proposing units should verify that any prospective agent partners have completed the Canada Course for Education Agents offered by Global Affairs Canada and the Canadian Consortium for International Education.

4) Reference Check

The proposing unit must perform a reference check of all agents that remain prospective partners following their completion of the UBC Agent Application Form.

A sample agent reference check email is attached to this guide as Appendix ‘B’. The reference check may be performed by telephone provided the responses to the questions listed on the sample email are clearly documented.

5) Thomson Reuters World-Check

The proposing unit must conduct a search of any prospective third-party recruitment agent partners on the Thomson Reuters World-Check system.

6) Site Visit

Following a reference check, the proposing unit must perform a site visit at the head office (or other appropriate office) of any third-party recruitment agent it continues to consider a prospective partner.

The proposing unit must complete a Site Visit Report. A template Site Visit Report is attached to this guide as Appendix ‘C’. This template should be revised as necessary to suit the circumstances of the proposing unit.

7) Report and Selection of Third-Party Recruitment Agent Partner

At the conclusion of the identification and vetting process, the proposing unit must assess whether any of the fully vetted agents are suitable partners for the unit and for UBC. If so, a report detailing the basis for this conclusion and the steps taken during the vetting process may be submitted to the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office.
STEP 5: NEGOTIATION AND ENTRY INTO AGREEMENT WITH SELECTED THIRD-PARTY RECRUITMENT AGENT PARTNER

Following the selection of a third-party recruitment agent partner, the designated third-party recruitment coordinating office will bring the selection to the attention of the Office of the University Counsel for negotiation and finalization of the agreement.

Professional Master of Business Administration (PMBA)

1. Executive Summary
   1.1. Overview
   The University of British Columbia is a comprehensive research-intensive university, consistently ranked among the 40 best universities in the world. It creates an exceptional learning environment that fosters global citizenship, advances a civil and sustainable society, and supports outstanding research to serve the people of British Columbia, Canada and the world. Since 1915, UBC’s West Coast spirit has embraced innovation and challenged the status quo. Its entrepreneurial perspective encourages students, staff and faculty to challenge convention, lead discovery and explore new ways of learning.

   The Faculty of Commerce and Business Administration (Sauder School of Business) is proposing a new two-year (42-credit) Professional Master of Business Administration (PMBA) degree program. The proposed program will replace the existing part-time variant of the MBA degree program, which has been in operation since 2003. The new program has been designed with the needs of experienced working professionals in mind, and offers both a revised delivery model and a re-imagined curriculum. Its purpose is to provide local working professionals with the business skills and knowledge necessary for them to become business leaders in their chosen field. The program builds on a strong history of delivering MBA-level curricula and responds to student and instructor feedback and changes to the competitive landscape.

   The proposal is to launch the program in January 2018.

Main contact: Kin Lo, Senior Associate Dean--Students, Sauder School of Business

1.2. Rationale
   UBC Sauder School of Business has operated a part-time version of its MBA program since 2003. The School has a strong brand in the local market, and as such has successfully recruited a cohort of 40-50 students for each of the past five years. However, the current program structure and design leads to a less-than-optimal learning experience for students, resulting in much student feedback for improvements in some key areas. After several years of attempting incremental changes, and in the context of an increasingly competitive local market, the School convened an academic committee to consider more significant changes to the program design in order to improve the learning experience.

   The key issues identified are as follows:
   ● In order to meet the 50-credit program requirements for the MBA, the existing part-time variant takes 28 months to complete. This is significantly longer than other similar programs in the marketplace, which all operate within the 20-24 month range, and the number of credits is greater than is typical.
   ● In order to meet all the mandatory course requirements for the MBA, modules were scheduled in such a way that students were often in class every other week, with class starting on Friday evening, and going through all day Saturday and all day Sunday. This level of commitment is incredibly challenging for working professionals to sustain over a 28-month period, and leads to less than ideal pedagogical choices.
   ● A single curriculum design for the full-time and part-time variants of the MBA has led to sacrifices, resulting in a curriculum that is ideally suited to the needs of part-time MBA students, who are typically more experienced than full-time MBA students and looking to apply their learning directly in their working practice. The curriculum and delivery model needed to be re-imagined with the needs of these students at the forefront.

As a result of this work, the School has developed a new PMBA that it proposes to deliver as a standalone program. The School will cease to enrol new students into the existing part-time variant of the MBA upon approval of the new program.

The proposed new PMBA will comprise 42 credits and be delivered over a 24-month period. The program comprises three 8-day residencies, each of 5 credits, and eighteen 1.5-credit modules delivered in a weekend format. The residencies, the revised program credits, and a move towards more online assessments, will allow class times to be shortened, and class weekends spread further apart. The curriculum has been completely re-imagined to meet the needs of PMBA students, with a mix of new and existing modules.

1.3. Program Goals
The primary goal of the program is to provide the business skills and knowledge necessary for graduates to become business leaders in their chosen fields. Graduates will be skilled in making business decisions, in integrating knowledge from relevant business functional areas, and in communicating with stakeholders. They will be effective team participants, and will understand the critical role of personal leadership development. Finally, graduates will have an understanding of the ethical and social implications of their business practices, and will understand the global context in which they operate. The academic and professional development content of the PMBA is fully integrated, with the goal of enabling graduates to achieve their individual professional goals alongside their academic goals.

1.4. Relationship to other programs
Within the Faculty
The Faculty of Commerce and Business Administration offers several masters degrees and a PhD. MBA is currently offered in full-time and part-time variants, alongside a standalone International MBA that is delivered primarily in Shanghai. Sauder has previously offered specialized Executive MBA programs for the mining and health care sectors, but neither is currently in operation.

The proposed new PMBA program will replace the existing part-time variant of the MBA. As a standalone degree, the new program will allow us the opportunity to build a curriculum and learning model specifically to meet the needs of part-time students, while building on a long history of success in MBA delivery.

Table 1 below summarizes the main differences between the proposed PMBA and the existing part-time MBA. A more detailed comparison of the content of the two programs is provided in Appendix A to this proposal.

It should be noted that the full-time MBA is delivered over 16 months. Students who wish to study a high quality MBA in part-time form will typically choose from between the local part-time offerings, rather than consider a full-time program.

Within BC
Most graduate business schools offer an MBA program in either executive and/or part-time format. UBC’s key local competitors are Simon Fraser University, Queens University (operating in Vancouver), and the University of Victoria. Prospective students can also choose from a range of online options, with some promoted directly to the Vancouver market. Further competitive information can be found in Appendix B to this proposal.

1.5. Demand for Program

The Sauder School of Business has had a part-time MBA program since 2003. While the proposed PMBA is significantly different in content and structure, we believe that enrollment in the program will, at a minimum, match that of the current part-time MBA. In designing the PMBA we took into account both student feedback and market comparisons, and given the revised design we anticipate an overall increase in applications and enrollment.

We expect to enrol our last class in the current part-time MBA format in January 2017 and enroll our first class of the PMBA in January 2018. Given that there will be no break in our usual marketing, recruitment, and admissions cycle, we anticipate our initial program demand and steady state demand to be quite similar. As we will be targeting the same applicant profile for the new program, our historical data on applicants/enrolled students provides a suitable estimate for demand:

2. Program Description and Specifications

2.1. Learning Objectives

2.2. Curriculum Overview
The PMBA will provide the business skills and knowledge necessary for graduates to become business leaders in their chosen field. The program will be delivered in the following types of modules:

- 3 Professional Residencies: required 8-day intensive courses (5 credits each)
- 8 Foundational Modules: required modules delivered in a weekend format (1.5 credits each)
- 10 Advanced Modules: electives (1.5 credits each)

The focus in Year 1 of the program is to provide students with a broad foundation in accounting, economics, finance, marketing, organizational behaviour, operations & logistics, statistics, and strategy. Students can immediately start to relate cross-functional perspectives to their current professional roles, with the professional residencies providing clear examples of how business topics integrate. More information on the professional residencies is given in Section 2.2.1 below.

In the second year of the program, students will deepen their understanding through a series of advanced modules, continuing to apply knowledge and skills to real business problems in both their classroom and workplace settings. Students can opt to study modules with the full-time MBA program if their work allows, providing a broader range of opportunities.

All residency and foundational modules are required for program completion. Students may substitute advanced modules with modules delivered in the full-time MBA program. The program requirements are provided as Appendix C to this proposal. A visual overview of the program is provided as Appendix D.

2.2.1 Professional Residencies
Professional residencies are new, intensive, integrated, 5-credit courses delivered over 8 days. The purpose of these residencies is to integrate multiple business topics, along with communication skills and professional development activities that support this learning. The intensive format allows part-time PMBA students to foster valuable learning relationships with each other and the program faculty, and to acquire a significant body of knowledge that can be put into practice immediately in their working lives. The residency format will include lectures, case studies, group projects and experiential activities. The teaching team for each residency will be cross-discipline, with professional staff and industry speakers supporting and contextualising the learning throughout.

BA 501: Professional Residency I: Leadership & Competitive Strategy (5 credits)
The first residency provides a graduate-level foundation in these two topics, an understanding of which is critical to success on the PMBA and as a business leader. The course enables students to understand the connections between these subjects and their application in practice. The course will enhance students’ self-awareness, career management and networking skills, and will begin their communications skills development by assessing their current style and approach in the context of communicating as a leader.

BA 502: Professional Residency II: Business Development & Negotiations (5 credits)
The second residency is delivered at the start of Year 2, and builds on the knowledge attained in foundational modules. This highly experiential course enables students to develop effective communication strategies in two crucial areas of business, exploring both the theory underpinning success and practical applications. At this stage of the program, communication skills and professional development is targeted around working with small audiences and operating successfully in a variety of professional environments.

BA 503: Professional Residency III: Ethics, Sustainability & Managing Change (5 credits)
The third residency will serve as the program capstone and will build on the knowledge and experience gained throughout the 24 months. The academic focus will be on ethics, sustainability, and managing change, with skills development activities to support this learning. Students will be expected to present to large audiences and work with the media, as well as having a clear idea of their future career direction.

Full course outlines and Category 1 course change forms are provided within Appendix E.

2.2.2 Foundational Modules

All students in the PMBA program are required to complete these mandatory 1.5-credit modules as part of the program requirements. New modules are denoted with an asterisk, and the course outlines are provided in Appendix E.

BAAC 550: Foundations in Accounting (1.5 credits)
The course will enable students to use information contained in financial statements to make better decisions. The emphasis will be on interpreting the financial statements as opposed to preparing them. Students will also have a better understanding of communications related to the financial performance and condition of organizations.

BABS 540: Data Utilization (1.5 credits)
The aim of the course is to give students the skills necessary to acquire, work with, interpret, and present data, and to encourage critical thinking when consuming data, graphs, summaries, and conclusions. A number of the more common statistical models will be covered in the course. Students will be working with data and conducting analyses while also focusing on topics such as when to trust data, what assumptions are reasonable, what a model actually does, and how not to be fooled by misleading conclusions.

BAFI 500: Introductory Finance (1.5 credits)
This course provides an introduction to the fundamental analysis of corporate investment and financing decisions. Students will consider what determines the value of an investment in a real asset, measure the cost and benefits of an investment, and how to account for time and risk in evaluating costs and benefits. Additionally, students will explore how stock and bond prices reflect investment decision.

BAFI 511: Investment Theory and Asset Pricing (1.5 credits)
The course familiarizes students with how risks are priced in financial markets. Furthermore, the course introduces derivatives and teaches how to price them. Students will understand why investment risk premium depends on its sensitivity to market risk and understand the relationship between risk and return though the Capital Asset Pricing Model. Additionally, students will be able to construct investment portfolios, know payoffs from and usage of financial options, and know how to price financial options using the Law of One Price.

BAHR 560: Building High Performance Teams and Organizations (1.5 credits)
This course will expose students to a set of frameworks and processes that can help students to effectively lead alongside others in organizations. It will provide students the opportunity to understand what it takes to make a difference in their organizations, in particular amid times of rapid change and uncertainty. The emphasis on this component will be key factors that can motivate high performance as individuals and teams. Topics will include individual, team and organizational factors.

BAMA 550: Marketing Fundamentals (1.5 credits)
This course introduces students to the key aspects of marketing. It is designed to balance a theoretical perspective with hands-on experience by using the concepts and best practices used to make marketing strategy decisions. The concepts taught in this course will enable students to develop effective marketing strategies across a wide range of product and service industries, including Business-to-Business (B2B) and Business-to-Consumer (B2C) markets.

BAPA 560: Foundations of Managerial and Business Economics (1.5 credits)
The course explores the basic economics principles that are the foundation of most economic analysis. Students will examine the basic model of supply and demand and use the framework to consider the optimal behaviour of firms and consumers. Additionally, students will consider the role of imperfect competition, exploring settings in which firms can exercise market power to maximize their long-run profits.

BASC 550: Operations and Logistics (1.5 credits)
This component of the PMBA program introduces students to the main concepts and tools needed to understand and effectively manage supply chains. A key concept in this course is the “business process”, and managing and improving such processes. Since every functional area of business includes processes, the material will be relevant to managers in all functional areas across various industries.

2.2.3 Advanced Modules

Students in the PMBA program can choose to take the modules listed below or can substitute one or more with another MBA module of their choosing. Students are required to complete a minimum of 10 advanced modules (15.0 credits) as part of the program requirements. A comparison of advanced modules offered in the current Part-time MBA, Full-time MBA and the proposed Professional MBA is provided in Appendix F. New modules are denoted with an asterisk, and the course outlines are provided in Appendix E.

BAAC 500: Financial Reporting (1.5 credits)
This course is an extension of the foundational accounting course that was covered earlier in the program. BAAC 500 will further examine the accounting treatment of individual accounts in the balance sheet, income statement, and statement of retained earnings. This course will allow students to develop a greater appreciation of the role the financial statements play in influencing user’s decisions and the importance that judgement plays in accounting.

BAAC 510: Cost Analysis for Decision Making (1.5 credits)
Students will focus on four topics: (1) cost behaviour and classification, (2) activity based costing and activity-based management, (3) joint costing and (4) relevant costs for decision making. These topics will be examined from a strategic viewpoint with emphasis on decision-making that is inclusive of both the long-term and short-term implications for the firm.

BAFI 502: Advanced Corporate Finance (1.5 credits)
The course covers four topics: (1) capital budgeting, (2) capital structure, (3) payout policy and
(4) valuation and leverage. The first deals with forecasting a project’s earnings, identifying its free cash flow, calculating its cost of capital, computing its NPV, and analyzing it. The second deals with a firm’s financing decisions while the third deals with a firm’s decision to pay out its excess cash to investors or to retain it in the firm. The last topic deals with the impact of debt financing on capital budgeting decisions.

BAFI 532: International Financial Management (1.5 credits)
The course will provide an overview of key issues that make the financial management of a multinational firm challenging. Students will study the concepts of foreign exchange risk and exposure and investigate ways to manage these exposures utilizing the application of various financial instruments. A range of additional corporate finance and investment decisions will be studied and students will have the opportunity to examine the link between international finance and international trade.

BAIT 510: Project Management in Delivering Business Solution (1.5 credits)
This course provides students with a solid foundation in project management concepts, processes and tools. Students will acquire fundamental knowledge and skills that can be applied to projects in a multitude of industries and of varying complexity. Students will build upon core concepts through discussions and exercises, using industry best practices to properly plan and manage a project.

BAIT 511; Managing Information Technology (1.5 credits)
This course will explore information technology (IT) and the opportunities and challenges in managing it. Students will explore the following topics: IT governance, designing IT for customer service, IT strategy and competitive advantage, and e-Business. Students will be able to apply the capabilities of IT to solve business problems, perform analysis associated with IT applications, and describe how the capabilities of IT are reshaping the internal operations of firms as well as their relationships with customers, suppliers, competitors, and business partners.

BAMA 508: Market Research (1.5 credits)
This course is designed to provide a basic understanding of the nature and scope of market research problems and the methods used to solve these problems, including interviews, focus groups, surveys, experiments, and web-tracking paradigms. This course will help students to conduct and to critically evaluate commercial and non-commercial research, and will add to their strategic repertoire of analytical tools useful for any business decision. The course is designed to deal with questions of market research and marketing intelligence at a management level, and will focus on rigorous analysis rather than statistical calculation.

BASC 500: Process Fundamentals (1.5 credits)
This course will provide students with an introduction to operations analysis. Topics include process analysis, capacity analysis, process design, theory or constraints, and lean operations.
The module is designed to serve students interested in pursuing a career in operations and supply chain management, and those students with career interests in other areas who wish to expand their knowledge of this area.

BASC 525: Supply Chain Strategy and Analytics (1.5 credits)
This course combines managerial approaches and quantitative methodologies in order to identify opportunities to create value within and across organizations. The course will give students the tools to address some of the more common areas of inefficiencies, using cases from different industries that highlight topics in managing supply chains such as forecasting demand, establishing a sales and operations planning process, making long-term facility and network decisions and simulating complex processes.

*BASM 514: Strategies in Organizations (1.5 credits)
The course aims to provide an understanding of the fundamental issues in corporate and organizational strategy. Students will be introduced to the underlying economics of organizational design, including incentive pay, decentralization, transfer pricing and complementarities. Additionally, the course will promote logical and economically-sound thinking about how the coordination of economic activity through markets, contracts, and ownership affect long-run profits.

2.3 Program Delivery and Schedule
The current part-time MBA program is delivered over a three-day weekend format as shown below. When paired with a full time work week for working professionals, this model has proven challenging for pedagogical, structural and operational purposes. The new PMBA allows for a set of 2 modules to be taught over 19.5 hours (three 6.5 hour days) over 3 separate weekends as shown below. As these students are working professionals, they will be given 2 non-class weekends in between each set of modules to provide time for reflection, group work, and course preparation.

Professional residencies are placed strategically throughout the program, and will run for 8 days from Saturday to Saturday. Residency I is the program opening, Residency II marks the program mid-point and the Residency III marks the program capstone. The residency model is a common delivery format among our competitors, and is well established in the sector.

All final exams will be online, and other forms of final deliverable (e.g., final projects) will be designed to be completed remotely or during class time, to reduce the number of in-class weekends. The Faculty already delivers a number of modules that are assessed in this way, and is committed to ensuring academic rigour in all forms of assessment.

2.4 Academic Policies

The program will be governed by the academic policies of the Robert H. Lee Graduate School within the Faculty, which operate within the broader UBC policy framework. A copy of the Grade Requirements for Evaluation & Promotion are provided as Appendix G to this proposal.

2.5 Program Resources

The program will be mounted with the existing members in the Faculty. No new faculty will be hired specifically for this program.

The program will be administered by the Faculty of Commerce and Business Administration, which is staffed to manage recruitment, admissions, and program operations. It is anticipated that this program will form part of the portfolios of existing staff.

The Hari B. Varshney Business Career Centre in the Faculty will provide career development training and resources, including credit-bearing programming within the degree. One of our current Careers Managers will support the careers outcomes of the PMBA students.

2.6 Admission Requirements

The PMBA will be seeking applications from bright, enthusiastic and creative individuals who are committed to a high level of achievement in their academic, personal and professional life. The candidate selection process is rigorous. Applicants must be able to demonstrate managerial and leadership potential, maturity, ambition, drive and a clear sense of purpose. We assess these characteristics based on applicants’ professional experience, extracurricular activities, personal interests, written submissions and interviews.

Outlined below are the entrance requirements for admission to the PMBA program. Because of the competitive nature of admissions to the program, we strongly encourage applicants to exceed our minimum requirements.

*Generally, a four-year degree is required. Three-year Bachelor’s degrees are accepted from Australia, New Zealand, U.K., and Europe. Refer to this page for details on each country.

 If the applicant has sufficient professional experience or presents sufficiently high GMAT/GRE scores, a lower average may be accepted, subject to approval by the Director of the Robert H. Lee Graduate School.
Professional Experience
Minimum 2 years of full-time work experience gained after graduation from the bachelor’s degree.

GMAT or GRE
550 GMAT with at least a 50th percentile in the quantitative and verbal sections of the test or at least 150 GRE score on each of the verbal and quantitative section.

Maturity, Motivation & Fit
Assessed through resume, professional references and interview.

English Proficiency
An English proficiency exam is required for all candidates whose degrees are from a university outside Canada or the United States in which English is not the official language of instruction.

2.7. Tuition Rationale
The proposed PMBA tuition will match that of the MBA. With the expected 2% annual increase, the domestic tuition will be set at $46,569 for the January 2018 entry. While there will be a decrease in cost for faculty teaching, this cost will be offset by the resources needed to provide an enhanced student experience throughout the program. In particular, the professional residency experience will mirror a high-touch learning environment in an executive program. The projected costs are based on similar programming offered by the Faculty.

The Professional Master of Business Administration (PMBA) is intended for students who expect to continue their professional employment during the completion of the program. The PMBA is designed to prepare graduates to analyze problems, to make decisions, and to manage, motivate, and lead people and organizations. Year one of the program provides students with a broad understanding of the business context in the following disciplines: accounting, economics, finance, marketing, organizational behaviour, supply chain, statistics, and strategy, so that students can immediately start to relate cross-functional perspectives to their current professional roles. In year two, students will deepen their understanding in an array of business disciplines by exploring core business skills through a series of advanced modules. Students will continue to apply cutting edge knowledge and business skills to real life business problems in both their classroom and workplace settings.

Students with limited management background or who lack adequate background preparation will be recommended to participate in Sauder Program Preparation courses--online non-credit courses on basic business education, completed prior to the formal PMBA program. Topics include economics, quantitative methods, and business statistics. Since backgrounds vary, the extent of a student's required participation should be determined in consultation with a program advisor.

Admission Requirements

Admission to the Professional MBA Program is competitive and takes into consideration a variety of criteria: previous academic performance, GMAT/GRE test scores, professional experience, maturity, and fit. Enrolment is limited; admission to the program is competitive and generally requires an academic standing higher than the published minimum.

To be considered, applicants must hold an undergraduate degree with a minimum overall B average or 76% or recognized equivalent from an accredited institution. If the applicant has sufficient professional experience or presents sufficiently high GMAT/GRE scores, a lower average may be accepted, subject to approval of the Director of the Robert H. Lee Graduate School.

Normally, applicants must hold the equivalent of a four-year bachelor's degree. Three-year bachelor’s degrees are accepted from Australia, New Zealand, the U.K. and Europe. Additional details on acceptable international credentials are available here.

Applicants must present minimum GMAT or GRE score:

- 550 GMAT with at least a 50th percentile in the quantitative and verbal sections of the test; or
- 150 GRE score on each of the verbal and quantitative sections

Applicants from a university outside Canada in which English is not the primary language of instruction must present evidence of English language proficiency prior to being extended an offer of admission. Tests must have been taken within the last 24 months at the time of submission of your application. Acceptable English language proficiency tests for the PMBA are:

- TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language): 100 (Internet version)
- IELTS (International English Language Testing Service): minimum overall band score of 7.0 with no other component score less than 6.0
- MELAB (Michigan English Language Assessment Battery): minimum overall score of 84
- PTE (Pearson Test of English - Academic): minimum overall score of 70

Applicants must present a minimum of 2 years of full-time work experience gained after graduation from the bachelor’s degree.

An applicant’s suitability for the program will also be assessed through essay questions, resume, professional references and interview. A list of required application documents and further information on admission criteria is available on the program website (link to new site).

Upon accepting an offer of admission to the Professional MBA Program, students will be required to pay a non-refundable deposit, which is applied to the first installment of tuition fees.

Memorandum

Date: September 22, 2016

To: Chair, Senate Academic Policy Committee

From: Angela Redish, Provost and Vice-President Academic pro tem

Subject: Professional Master of Business Administration (PMBA)

The Faculty of Commerce is proposing to replace the part-time variant of its Master of Business Administration (MBA) program with the Professional Master of Business Administration (PMBA). As with our other professional graduate programs, this program would be administered within the Faculty of Commerce (instead of through the Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies).

Dean Susan Porter has been consulted and agrees with this arrangement. I fully endorse this proposal for your consideration and, at the next Senate meeting.

Re: New Awards and Changes to Existing Awards (September 2016)

The Senate Awards Committee recommends:

“That Senate accept the awards as listed and forward them to the Board of Governors for approval; and that letters of thanks be sent to the donors.”

New Awards:

ASSOCIATION of BC Forest Professionals Sustainable Forest Management Prize – A $1,000 prize has been made available through an endowment established by ForesTrust, registered charity of the Association of BC Forest Professionals (ABCFP), for a Master’s student in the Faculty of Forestry studying sustainable forest management. Preference is given to students enrolled in the Master of Sustainable Forest Management program who have indicated the intent to become active members of the ABCFP during their career, and who have demonstrated academic excellence and leadership skills through their studies. The ABCFP is responsible for registering and regulating British Columbia’s professional foresters and forest technologists and is the largest professional association in Canada. The award is made on the recommendation of the Faculty of Forestry in consultation with the Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies. (First Award Available in the 2016/2017 Winter Session)

Mike CASSELMAN Field School Award – Awards totalling $1,000 are offered to third-year students enrolled in Field Geology (EOSC 328) at UBC’s Oliver-based Geological Field School. The awards honour the legacy of Mike Casselman, a passionate exploration geologist, brilliant mapper, and strong believer in valuing and preserving the environment along with finding a mineral resource. The award recipients will be chosen by a committee comprised of the Director of the Geological Field School and a minimum of two other Earth, Ocean and Atmospheric Sciences (EOAS) faculty members. The recipients will be chosen based on their academic performance during Field School, with preference given to those demonstrating a passion for mapping and a commitment to supporting their fellow students. The recipients will be identified after Field School is complete with disbursement of funds occurring in the fall. (First Award Available in the 2016/2017 Winter Session)

ENCHOR Graduate Scholarship in Choral Conducting – A $1,000 scholarship is offered annually by members of Vancouver’s EnChor Choir, a 60 person mixed-voice choir created in 2007 by the late Dr. Diane Loomer to allow experienced singers age 55+ to enjoy high-quality singing. This scholarship is to be awarded to a graduate student in the Master of Music program who is excelling in the Choral Conducting program. The award is made on the recommendation of the School of Music in consultation with the Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies. (First Award Available in the 2016/2017 Winter Session)

GRADUATING Class of Dentistry 2010 Award – A $1,000 award is offered annually by the DMD class of 2010 to a student entering fourth year who has demonstrated a well-developed sense of clinical practice and academic skill in restorative dentistry. This award is in honour of Dr. Jim Richardson and his passion for and dedication to clinical teaching. The award is made on the recommendation of the Faculty of Dentistry. (First Award Available in the 2016/2017 Winter Session)

Dr. Andrei KRASSIOUKOV International Autonomic Award – Awards totaling $1,000 are offered annually by friends and family of Dr. Andrei Krassioukov, Chair in Rehabilitation Medicine, Associate Director and Scientist, International Collaboration on Repair Discoveries (ICORD), to undergraduate and graduate students, as well as post-doctoral fellows, fellows and medical residents. Through his career Dr. Krassioukov has focused on collaboration and research that include spinal cord injuries and rehabilitation. Being able to collaborate with colleagues with multidisciplinary areas of expertise is extremely important for success in repairing spinal cord injuries and research. This award is to recognize the research achievement of a recipient whose research in the area of Autonomic Dysfunctions is presented at a national or international level conference. The award is made on the recommendation of ICORD in the Faculty of Medicine and in the case of graduate students, in consultation with the Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies. (First Award Available in the 2017/2018 Winter Session)

MANZALAOUI Prize – A $2,300 prize has been made available through an endowment established with a gift from the Estate of Mahmoud Aly Manzalaoui for a student who has excelled in a course in the language and/or literature of Middle English or Old English. Dr. Manzalaoui (1924-2015) was a scholar, teacher and friend to generations of students in Egypt, England and at the University of British Columbia. Those UBC students who took his course on Chaucer and other medieval topics will remember him for his lively classroom readings and informative lectures. He worked hard to impress on all of his students the importance of literature and its relation to life. The award is made on the recommendation of the Faculty of Arts, and in the case of a graduate student, in consultation with the Faculty of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies. (First Award Available in the 2016/2017 Winter Session)

PROVINCIAL Court Judges’ Association Bursary – Bursaries totalling $1,000 are offered annually by the Provincial Court Judges’ Association to students in financial need in the Peter A. Allard School of Law J.D. Program. The award is adjudicated by Enrolment Services. (First Award Available in the 2016/2017 Winter Session)

Rationale for Proposed Changes – Type of Action:

- Enrolment Services, in collaboration with Access and Diversity, has requested that the language of the following awards for students with disabilities be changed so as to bring the relevant calendar descriptions to 2016 standards.
- Enrolment Services proposes to remove language involving the administration of the award (where to get the application, when it is due) as this causes confusion due to the change in deadlines and the names of offices, and the most up to date information can be included on the website rather than in the official description.

To: Senate
From: Nominating Committee
Re: Committee Appointments

A) Committee Assignments (approval)

The Nominating Committee is pleased to recommend:

That Dr Alan Richardson be appointed to the Senate Curriculum Committee until 31 August 2017 and thereafter until replaced, to fill a vacancy; and

That the composition of the Ad Hoc Committee on Flexible Learning be reduced by one (1) senator and that Dr Lawrence Walker cease to be a member of the Committee.

The Nominating Committee notes that there remains one vacancy on the Senate Curriculum Committee for a convocation senator. Dr Walker has requested to be discharged from the ad hoc committee due to other assignments; given the approaching end of this triennium and the ad hoc committee’s mandate, the Nominating Committee is not recommending a replacement.

B) Appointment to the President’s Advisory Committee for the Selection of a University Librarian (approval)

The Committee has received a request from Provost Redish to appoint a faculty member to an advisory committee being formed pursuant to Joint Board-Senate Policy 17. The Committee notes that under that policy additional members are appointed by the President and elected by the university’s librarians and students. The Senate has one appointment to make, which under the Policy must be a faculty member or a student (but not necessarily a senator). The Committee has considered possible appointees, and is pleased to recommend:

That Dr Thomas Schneider be appointed to the President’s Advisory Committee for the Selection of a University Librarian.

Dr Schneider is a senator and Professor of Egyptology, a member of the Senate Library Committee, and editor of several journals. The Nominating Committees does note that Dr Schneider is a member of the Nominating Committee, and advises Senate that Dr Schneider did not take part in the decision to recommend him for this appointment.
C) Development of a Policy on the Recommendation and Selection of a President (information)

Under the University Act the Board of Governors has the power, “with the approval of the senate, to establish procedures for the recommendation and selection of candidates for president...”

As noted last year, the University of British Columbia is one of few institutions in its peer group without an ongoing policy for presidential searches. The Nominating Committee in Vancouver and its counterpart at the Okanagan campus have been discussing the need for and possible structures for such a policy based on both past and current UBC practices and best practices at other universities.

Over the course of this academic year, the two Nominating Committees will engage with each other and their equivalent Governance Committee of the Board of Governors with advice and recommendations from the Senates on an ongoing policy for UBC. The Okanagan Nominating Committee has already presented information to and sought the advice of its Senate on policy recommendations, and the Vancouver Committee plans to do the same later this academic year as discussions continue.

The Chair will be funded through a contribution of $1.5M from the First Nations Health Authority and a contribution of $1.5M from UBC’s Research Excellence Fund, which will be spent down over a 10 year term. Vision, Values and 7 Directives of the First Nation Health Authority

Vision

Healthy, Self-Determining and Vibrant BC First Nations Children, Families and Communities.

Values

Respect
We believe that maintaining respectful relationships is fundamental to the achievement of our shared vision. Respectful relationships are built upon the recognition that we all have something to contribute as individuals, and participants in the First Nations health governance structure. Therefore, we commit to treating each other with dignity and generosity, being responsive to one another, and acknowledging that each entity has their own respective processes and practices. We are also committed to respectful interactions with First Nations, tripartite partners, and other collaborators.

Discipline
We have the historic opportunity to achieve transformative change in First Nations health and wellness, and an obligation to make the most of this opportunity. This will require discipline amongst us, including through: loyalty to one another and our shared vision; upholding and supporting our roles, responsibilities, decisions, and processes; maintaining and nurturing unity and a united front; integrity and reliability in fulfilling our commitments, and accountability to one another for these commitments and contributions; and, solutions-oriented and active participation.

Relationships
We believe that effective working relationships with First Nations, tripartite partners, and with one another are the foundation for achieving our vision and implementing our health plans and agreements. We commit to fostering effective working relationships and camaraderie underpinned by: trust; honesty; understanding; teamwork; and mutual support. We also acknowledge that humour and laughter are both good medicine, and a good way to build relationships.

Culture
We are here because of those that came before us, and to work on behalf of First Nations. We draw upon the diverse and unique cultures, ceremonies, customs, and teachings of First Nations for strength, wisdom, and guidance. We uphold traditional and holistic approaches to health and self-care and strive to achieve a balance in our mental, spiritual, emotional, and physical wellness.

Excellence
We are humbled and honoured to have been asked by First Nations to work on their behalf to improve health and wellness, and have a moral and personal responsibility to strive for excellence. Excellence means that our outcomes are sustainable, that our processes are professional and transparent, and that we commit to learn continuously – through capacity development opportunities, from each other and from new, different and innovative models worldwide.

Policy #47 (Chair, Professorship and Distinguished Scholar Honorifics)

(see link: http://universitycounsel.ubc.ca/files/2014/04/policy47.pdf)

NOTICE: attach a printed copy of the Policy to the final agreement
Title: Chair, Professorship and Distinguished Scholar Honorifics

Background & Purposes:
The purpose of this Policy is to support the goal of UBC in encouraging the creation of prestigious chair, professorship and distinguished scholar honorifics funded by endowments or other funds and to establish the academic, financial and accountability criteria for these Honorifics.

Honorifics are conferred by UBC to reward excellence in research and teaching. Conferral of an Honorific is normally accompanied by financial resources for research and teaching support and honoraria; and where a financial sustainability has been approved in accordance with the Policy, the funds may be used for salary and benefits. Holders of Honorifics provide regular reports to UBC on their activities, and UBC shares the impact of Honorifics with the donors who have enabled the establishment of Honorifics and with the broader community.

Related Policies:
Policy #113 - Endowment Management
Policy #114 - Donations
Policy #124 - Naming

1. Scope

1.1. This Policy applies in respect of the recognition of outstanding individuals who hold appointments at UBC as faculty members or hold faculty term appointments without review as defined by UBC Policy #42 as:

(a) Chair holders,
(b) Professorship holders, and
(c) Distinguished Scholars

(collectively, the "Honorifics");

except that it does not apply to University Killam Professors (as defined by UBC Policy #57) or government funded research chair programs such as the Canada Research Chair program or the Tri-Council research programs. The distinction among the types of Honorifics is based primarily on the eligibility criteria and extent of funding.
1.2. The Policy does not apply to incumbents who hold Honorifics at the date the Policy is adopted unless the incumbent requests in writing to the Responsible Executive that the Policy apply to the incumbent and the Responsible Executive approves the request.

1.3. The Policy does apply to Honorifics conferred on Holders (as defined in section 4.4 of the Policy) after this Policy comes into force even if they are established pursuant to an arrangement already in existence at the date the Policy is adopted or an arrangement that is in discussions with a donor at the date the Policy is adopted.

1.4. Where the Policy applies to incumbents and Holders as set out in sections 1.2 and 1.3, it will apply only to the extent the Policy is not inconsistent with the legal terms establishing the Honorific.

Academic Components:

2. Naming Convention

2.1. Subject to section 2.2, Honorifics may be named as requested by a donor who has contributed the majority of the funds to establish the Honorific; and will normally include “UBC” and the field of interest in the name. For example, the “Taylor Wong UBC Chair in Music” or the “Taylor Wong Chair in Music at UBC” or the “Taylor Wong Chair in Music, a UBC Chair”.

2.2. The naming of Honorifics must be approved by the Responsible Executive.

3. Establishment

3.1. The establishment of a Chair requires the approval of the Board of Governors upon the recommendation of the Senate.

3.2. The establishment of Professorship and Distinguished Scholar Honorifics requires the approval of the Responsible Executive.

4. Conferral of Recognition on Holder of Honorific

4.1. Honorifics are conferred by UBC on UBC faculty members and persons eligible for faculty term appointments without review (as defined by UBC Policy #42) (referred to as “Eligible Individuals”) to recognize academic excellence.

4.2. An Honorific is separate and distinct from a faculty appointment, will be conferred based on merit, and will not be tied to the appointment of a particular individual. For greater clarity, an Honorific may be tied to a position, such as a Dean or Head of a Department within a Faculty. In that case, the terms of the appointment of the Dean or the Head or other position govern the conferral of the Honorific.

4.3. The decision to confer an Honorific on an Eligible Individual will be made by the Responsible Executive on the recommendation of the Dean and in accordance with the Procedures.

4.4. Upon the Honorific being conferred on an Eligible Individual, the individual is referred to as a “Holder”.
5. Eligibility Requirements

5.1. A Chair provides for recognition of an established academic and leader who has attained eminence in his or her field of endeavour. A Chair is normally available only to an Eligible Individual who has the rank of professor or professor of teaching.

5.2. A Professorship provides for recognition of an Eligible Individual who has attained, or has the potential to attain, eminence in his or her field of endeavour.

5.3. A Distinguished Scholar provides for recognition of an Eligible Individual who has achieved distinction in his or her field of endeavour. A Distinguished Scholar is available to faculty members of all ranks.

Accountability Components:

6. Assessment and Accountability

6.1. As an Honorific provides recognition for Holders, a Holder is accountable to UBC; and UBC is accountable to the community and to its donors whose gifts enable the establishment and continuation of Honorifics.

6.2. Holders are required to establish objectives and prepare reports as set out in the Procedures. The reports assist UBC in assessing the effectiveness of the additional resources provided by funding for Honorifics in achieving an added measure of excellence in teaching and research at UBC. The reports also assist UBC to account to donors and the broader community about the effectiveness and accomplishments of Honorifics.

Financial Components:

7. Funds

7.1 A Holder is normally provided with access to financial resources which are intended to promote and enhance the Holder’s academic activities including his or her research, teaching and educational leadership capabilities. Funds are to be used as set out in the Procedures to this Policy.
PROCEDURES

Approved: December 1987
Revised: April 2014

Pursuant to Policy #1: Administration of Policies, "Procedures may be amended by the President, provided the new procedures conform to the approved policy. Such amendments are reported at the next meeting of the Board of Governors". Note: the most recent procedures may be reviewed at http://universitycounsel.ubc.ca/policies/index.

1. Administration

1.1. The responsibility for the administration of this Policy and these Procedures lies with the Vice-President Academic and Provost (Vancouver) in relation to Honorifics at UBC’s Vancouver campus, and the Provost and Vice Principal, Academic (Okanagan) in relation to Honorifics at UBC’s Okanagan campus (the “Responsible Executive”).

Academic Components:

2. Honorific Periods (“Period(s)”)

2.1. Chairs and Professorships are conferred on Holders for a five-year Period and may be extended by up to one (1) year upon the written approval of the Dean.

2.2. A Distinguished Scholar Honorific is normally conferred on a Holder for a minimum of a three (3) year Period and may be extended upon written approval of the Dean to a maximum of five (5) years.

2.3. The written terms of an Honorific may provide a maximum number of Periods for a Holder. For example, an Honorific tied to a Headship is normally limited to two Periods.

3. Conferral Process

3.1. Upon establishment of an Honorific, upon a vacancy where an Honorific does not have a Holder, and at the discretion of the Dean upon the end of a Period, the Dean will convene a committee to make a recommendation to the Dean to confer an Honorific on an Eligible Individual, which may include a recommendation to renew an incumbent Holder for an additional Period if applicable. The Dean may advertise to solicit applications for the Honorific.

3.2. The Dean will make a recommendation for conferral of an Honorific on an Eligible Individual, or renewal in the case of an incumbent Holder if applicable, to the Responsible Executive.

3.3. The Responsible Executive will make a decision, and will notify the Eligible Individual of the conferral of the Honorific on the Holder, or his or her renewal in the case of an incumbent Holder whose honorific is renewed.
Accountability Components:

4. Assessment and Accountability

4.1. At the beginning of the Period, the Holder must establish specific objectives related to the Honorific as approved by the Dean and in accordance with any written terms of the Honorific.

4.2. The Holder will provide to his or her Department Head and the Dean an annual report of his or her activities related to the Honorific, and if appropriate, an annual report for donors. The annual report at the end of the Holder’s final Period will be a comprehensive report encompassing the achievements of the Holder related to the Honorific.

4.3. If funding is available, a maximum Period has not been reached, and the Holder wishes to be considered for renewal of the Honorific for a subsequent Period, then the Holder will provide to his or her Department Head and the Dean a comprehensive report in the penultimate year of the Period. The Holder’s comprehensive report will be reviewed by the Head, if relevant, and used to make a recommendation to the Dean for renewal for a subsequent Period. If the Dean does not recommend renewal, the Dean will notify the Holder and the Responsible Executive of the recommendation, and the Holder will have 30 days from the date of the notice to make submissions to the Responsible Executive. After the end of the 30 days, the Responsible Executive will make a final decision.

4.4. Subject to reporting requirements established by the Responsible Executive, a Dean may prescribe the form of the reports required.

4.5. If at any time during the Period the Holder is not satisfactorily meeting the objectives of the Honorific, the Dean, in consultation with the Department Head, may make a recommendation to the Responsible Executive to remove the Honorific from the Holder. The Dean will notify the Holder of the recommendation, and the Holder will have 30 days from the date of the notice to make submissions to the Responsible Executive. After the end of the 30 days, the Responsible Executive will make a final decision.

Financial Components:

5. Funding

5.1. Honorifics may be funded by UBC endowment or fixed term funding.

5.2. The funding required to establish an Honorific may differ depending on the Faculty, and the amount required will be commensurate with the goal of enhancing the capacity of an Honorific to undertake research, teaching and educational leadership activities. The Responsible Executive will create guidelines establishing the minimum amounts required by Faculties, and will periodically adjust the amounts required.

5.3. Funding for fixed term funded Chairs and Professorships is recommended to be for at least 10 years, and at a minimum must be for at least five (5) years. Funding for Distinguished Scholars is recommended to be for at least three (3) years.

5.4. Honorifics dissolve upon termination of their funding source.
6. Use of Funds

6.1. An account shall be created to hold the annual amount available for spending for the purposes of the Honorific (the "Annual Allocation"). The Annual Allocation shall be used pursuant to the mutual agreement between the Holder and the Department Head or the Dean and will normally be used to support research, teaching and educational leadership activities.

6.2. The Annual Allocation will not attract the collection of indirect cost recovery by the University unless expressly permitted by an arrangement or agreement establishing an Honorific.

6.3. The Annual Allocation may be used for honoraria, salary and benefits for UBC employees, including but not limited to holders, subject to the following provisions:

(a) Unless previously approved by the Responsible Executive, honoraria received by UBC employees must comply with UBC's policies on honoraria.

(b) Before an Honorific can be conferred on an Eligible Individual where the Faculty intends to use all or a portion of the Annual Allocation to support salary or benefits of any UBC employee, the Department Head must create a Financial Sustainability Plan and obtain the approval of the Dean and the Responsible Executive.

(c) "Financial Sustainability Plan" means a plan identifying resources that will support the salary and benefits of any UBC employee during the Period of the Honorific and on an ongoing basis or until the end of his or her appointment. A Financial Sustainability Plan must:

   i. Ensure that funding is sufficient for the Period of the Honorific by providing for salary increases during the Period; and

   ii. Identify the manner in which the salary and benefits of any relevant UBC employee will be paid if and when the Eligible Individual ceases to be a Holder.

(d) The Responsible Executive requires the following steps to be undertaken by the Faculty before it will approve a Financial Sustainability Plan:

   i. Prior to advertising the existence of an Honorific or conferring an Honorific on a Holder, the academic unit is required to identify the resources associated with the potential Holder (e.g., financial, space, rank) and to provide appropriate letters guaranteeing financial or other resource commitments to the Dean; and

   ii. Following approval from the Dean, the request to hire and/or confer the Honorific shall be forwarded to the Responsible Executive for final approval, prior to the Dean granting permission to proceed.

Faculties of Medicine and Dentistry:

7. Additional Considerations Regarding Use of Funds

7.1. The Annual Allocation may also be used to buy out clinical time, which means that the Annual Allocation can be used to decrease clinical responsibilities in order to increase protected time for research and other academic activities. This is not considered to be salary support.

From: Kate Ross, Registrar
Re: 2016/2017 Triennial Elections
Date: 6 October 2016

As Senators will be aware, we are now in the third year of this triennium for the Senates and Board of Governors. As a result, throughout this year we will be conducting elections for the Senates and Board for 2017 to 2020.

Keeping with past practice, UBC will be electing faculty members and staff to the Board of Governors, and the Joint Faculties members of Senate, in the autumn; and electing faculty-specific, convocation, and other senate positions in the spring.

For details and updated information, please refer to https://facultystaff.students.ubc.ca/triennial1617.
To: Senate

From: Richard Anstee, Joint Faculties Senator

Re: Change to the Rules and Procedures of Senate

"That Senate amend its Rules and Procedures to add a new section to follow Section 29 to read as follows: Section 29 notwithstanding, any Senator appointed to a committee of Senate may ask -by giving written or verbal notice through the Secretary or the Committee Chair - that a matter proposed for approval by that committee (or already approved by that committee within one month of the notice) under delegated authority of Senate be not considered approved under that delegated authority and instead be brought to Senate for approval, provided that the matter is not an appeal or an otherwise confidential matter."

Comment: While this does allow a single senator to cause such an item to come to Senate, it is unlikely to result in capricious items at Senate. I would point out that the various senate committees do already brings items approved at the subcommittee level to senate for approval, when the committees do not have delegated authority over the items. Some items are quite interesting, others less so. A senator, who feels that an item will have strong interest from Senate and is worthy of their attention, ought to be able to override the system of delegated authority in this case.
