Remarks from the Chair & Related Questions

VICE-PRESIDENT, STUDENTS

The President drew attention to his recent memorandum about the future organization of the portfolio under the direction of the Vice-President, Students. The President had hired the consulting firm Keeling & Associates to conduct extensive consultation and to make recommendations on the structure of the portfolio. The consultant’s report contained several options, including the discontinuance of the portfolio altogether and absorption of its responsibilities into other vice-presidential portfolios. This option had been rejected, and a reorganized Vice-President, Students portfolio was to remain in place. The President had acted immediately, however, upon other recommendations in the report, including the reassignment of Enrolment Services and the International Student Initiative to report to the Provost & Vice-President, Academic in Vancouver and the Principal and Deputy Vice-Chancellor in the Okanagan. Other organizational changes were underway, e.g., to reporting relationships for Okanagan functions and internal reassignment of some responsibilities within vice-presidential portfolios. Vice-President, Students Brian Sullivan had decided to leave his vice-presidential position effective March 18, 2011, and had agreed to accept an exciting assignment in Development & Alumni Engagement. The President stated that he would soon announce the appointment of a Vice-President, Students pro tem., and that a search for a new Vice-President, Students would be underway as soon as possible.

LAND USE PLAN AMENDMENTS

The President reported that the Board of Governors had recently approved a package of UBC Vancouver Land Use Plan amendments and referred them to the Minister of Community, Sport and Cultural Development who, in consultation with the Minister of Science and Universities, was responsible for final approval. Key tenets of the Land Use Plan included improving housing affordability and creating a sustainable community by increasing density. Simplification of campus zoning would allow the campus to be used as a “living laboratory.” Prior to approval, the proposed amendments had undergone two rounds of public consultation and a well-attended public hearing. The President was pleased to note that the Musqueam Indian Band had endorsed the amendments after a series of discussions.

UNIVERSITY BUDGET

The President stated that the 2011/2012 University budget would soon be complete. The University remained in strong financial shape, with no cuts to faculties or other units anticipated in this budget. He thanked deans and directors of units for their discipline and good planning.
UBC CREDIT RATING

UBC had been issued a new Standard & Poor’s credit rating of AA+, which was the best rating of any university in Canada. Prof. Toope explained that a strong credit rating directly lowered the University’s cost of borrowing. The rating agency’s report listed as rationale UBC’s strong financial management, great student demand, and increased success in securing research funding.

BUSINESS INSIDER TOP 10 UNIVERSITY ENDOWMENT MANAGERS

The President reported that Mr. Pierre Ouillet, Vice-President, Finance, Resources, & Operations (and, by implication, the UBC Investment Management Trust), had recently been named one of the Top 10 University Endowment Managers of funds over $500 million by The Business Insider (www.businessinsider.com).

2011 PROVINCIAL BUDGET

The President was pleased to report that the 2011 provincial budget included no cuts or other unexpected budgetary pressures. There had been a small increase to the Ministry of Science and Universities. No significant changes were anticipated in the short term. Referring to the upcoming BC Liberal Party leadership election, the President emphasized the need for the University to connect with the new leadership as quickly as possible.

The President registered concern that the province had come close to its limits for capital spending, and that a rising debt-to-GDP ratio would mean that the government would need to exercise caution on decisions about capital funding. UBC had been very fortunate with respect to capital development in recent years, with approximately $1.5 billion in projects underway at the University’s two campuses. The President expressed hope that provincial flexibility in this area would increase at the same time that the University felt able to take on additional capital projects.
ST. JOHN’S HOSPICE

The President drew attention to recent media coverage about the proposed siting of a hospice for terminally ill people on the Vancouver campus. The proposal had been developed through a partnership between the Order of St. John, the UBC Faculty of Medicine, and the Vancouver Coastal Health Authority. Nearby residents had expressed concerns that it would be culturally insensitive to locate people in their final stages of life near the residents’ homes. The University had decided to engage in additional public education and consultation before bringing the proposal to the Board of Governors meeting scheduled for April 5, 2011. There had not, as yet, been any determination to change the planned siting of the hospice at the northeast corner of West Mall and Stadium Road.

REPORT ON PRESIDENT’S ACTIVITIES

The President had circulated for information a Record of President’s Activities: 1 November 2010 to 6 January 2011.

DISCUSSION: NSERC UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT RESEARCH AWARDS PROGRAM

Noting a December 2010 meeting between Prof. Toope and Dr. Suzanne Fortier, President, Natural Sciences & Engineering Research Council (NSERC), Dr. Harrison made a brief statement about recent reductions to the Undergraduate Student Research Awards Program. The Program contributed $4,500 toward 16 weeks of summer employment for each eligible student, and was intended to provide mentorship and stimulate interest in research in the natural sciences and engineering. While UBC had previously been able to offer 205 positions, the number had recently been reduced to 179. Dr. Harrison requested that the President consider including advocacy for this small but influential program among the topics for discussion at future meetings with NSERC leadership.
The President reported that he had looked into the status of this program and confirmed that UBC had lost 26 placements, plus a designated award for Aboriginal students. NSERC had clarified that other institutions had seen similar reductions. The funding for the program fluctuated from year to year, dependent on the funding for other programs. The President acknowledged that past advocacy efforts had concentrated on research funding rather than specifically on student programs. NSERC had recently shifted its focus toward industry-facing programs, and the President stated that there was a strong argument to be made that this shift should not be made at the expense of other core program areas. He agreed to raise this issue with NSERC at a future meeting.

Dean Alboulnasr stated that NSERC was subject to a great deal of political pressure, and that counter-pressure from post-secondary institutions would be helpful.

Dr. Singh noted the challenge of securing resources to deliver on the University’s goal to provide undergraduate research experiences. He noted that although he felt obliged to accept eight or 10 undergraduate student research assistants, contributions of this kind by faculty were not considered part of their teaching load and were not otherwise well recognized.

From the Board of Governors
The Senate received confirmation that the following items approved by the Vancouver Senate had subsequently been approved by the Board of Governors, as required under the University Act.

BRAZILIAN SECONDARY SCHOOL EVALUATION

The Committee recommended for approval proposed changes in admission requirements for Brazilian secondary school applicants to direct-entry undergraduate programs. Applicants would be evaluated on the basis of courses presented for admission, the quality of the institution attended, and performance on standardized tests (Vestibular, Exame Nacional do Ensino Medio or ENEM, the SAT or ACT). Applicants would be required to satisfy program prerequisites in order to be admissible. The proposed changes in admission requirements aligned with those approved by Senate in May 2009 for applicants to the Bachelor of Arts program.

Dr. Fielding
Dr. Sparks

That Senate approve changes in admission requirements for Brazilian secondary school applicants to direct-entry undergraduate programs, effective for admission to the 2011 Winter Session and thereafter.

Carried.
POLICY J-51: ADMISSION BASED ON INTERIM GRADES FOR APPLICANTS FOLLOWING CANADIAN EXTRA-PROVINCIAL CURRICULA

The Committee had circulated for approval a proposed policy on admission based on interim grades for particular applicant groups. At its January 2009 meeting, the Senate had approved a proposal to substitute Grade 11 grades in place of required Grade 12 grades for the calculation of an admission average for out-of-province applicants to direct-entry undergraduate programs, effective for admission to the 2009 Winter Session. In November 2009, the proposal was extended for entry to the 2010 and 2011 Winter Sessions.

The Committee had closely monitored the implementation of this change, including timing and rates of uptake of offers of admission and subsequent academic performance of applicants admitted under the proposal. The findings indicated that in addition to timely offers of admission, students admitted under the proposal performed as well as those admitted using a full set of Grade 12 grades. A permanent change was now recommended, as outlined in the circulated policy. The proposal was targeted towards UBC Vancouver. A parallel submission had been prepared for UBC Okanagan.

The procedures associated with this policy had been approved by the Committee and were included only for context and information.

\[ \text{Dr. Fielding} \]
\[ \text{Mr. Mertens} \]
\[ \text{That Senate approve Policy J-51: Admission Based on Interim Grades for Applicants Following Canadian Extra-Provincial Curricula.} \]
\[ \text{Carried.} \]

The President commended the Committee for its work in piloting new admissions regulations, evaluating them, and returning to Senate with more permanent proposals.

GENDER-SPECIFIC AWARDS TERMS

Dr. Stelck reported that, at the request of a Senator, the Committee had considered the question of whether to continue to bring forward awards with gender-specific terms. Upon advice from the Office of the University Counsel, the Committee recommended that Senate proceed as follows:

1. Where funding for an award is provided by a donor, the University will agree to establish an award for a specific gender as long as the award is received under terms of trust. The documentation used to establish such an award must be the endowment trust agreement.

2. Where a unit within the University wishes to establish an award for a specific gender using university funds, the unit requesting the award must provide the Office of the University Counsel with a case summary detailing the evidence that supports such an award.

The Senate accepted the Committee’s recommendations on gender-specific awards by unanimous consent.
Reports from the Provost & Vice-President, Academic

In the absence of the Provost, the President presented the reports.

UNIVERSITY KILLAM PROFESSOR

In accordance with UBC Policy #57, the Provost & Vice-President, Academic notified the Senate that at its meeting of February 7, 2011, the Board of Governors had approved conferring the designation of University Killam Professor on Dr. Sherill Grace, Professor, Department of English, Faculty of Arts. The President described Dr. Grace as an extraordinarily distinguished scholar and contributor to UBC.

ABORIGINAL STRATEGIC PLAN IMPLEMENTATION REPORT

The assembly recognized guest presenters Dr. Anna Kindler and Dr. Linc Kesler as Co-Chairs of the Implementation Committee for the Aboriginal Strategic Plan.

The Provost had circulated for information a report on the implementation of the Aboriginal Strategic Plan. The Plan had been adopted by the Senate in January 2009. The implementation report outlined the considerable progress made by UBC Vancouver to be more responsive to the needs of Aboriginal students and communities and better able to provide curricula and expertise on Aboriginal issues. The implementation report was to be made available at: aboriginal.ubc.ca.

Highlights of the presentation were as follows:

- Guiding principles:
  - Relationships: Recognition of our relationships with Musqueam, the Okanagan Nation Alliance, and other Aboriginal communities; ongoing dialogues to determine progress and future directions.
• Responsibility: Responsibility to develop educational opportunities for Aboriginal students, including research opportunities and curriculum addressing Aboriginal issues; responsibility to accurately address Aboriginal issues across curriculum for all students.

• Opportunity: UBC is a research-intensive university with an international reach; special responsibility to provide opportunities at advanced and international levels.

• The Aboriginal Strategic Plan identifies ten areas of engagement that fall into three general categories:
  • People: Encouragement of younger Aboriginal students to pursue post-secondary education; engagement with current students, faculty, staff, alumni, and Aboriginal communities and organizations.
  • Programs: Development of curriculum, research, and public programming.
  • Strategy: Integration of Aboriginal programs into core university academic and funding processes; accountability and communications.

• 2010 developments in strategic capacity:
  • First Nations House of Learning and Longhouse: Renewal of the Longhouse as an Aboriginal centre; restructuring of Longhouse-based student services and community engagement; addition of specialized staff.
  • Coordinator of Aboriginal Strategic Initiatives: VP Students: Greater integration of multiple services for Aboriginal students across specialized units.
  • Coordinator of Aboriginal Initiatives: CTLT: Development of expert capacity in the Centre for Teaching, Learning, and Technology to build instructional competence in the conduct of contentious cross-cultural discussions.

• Faculty Hiring: Since the ASP process began, UBC has doubled its Aboriginal faculty, with additional appointments in progress.

• Aboriginal Enrolments: UBC undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs graduated more than 120 Aboriginal students last year, and had a significant increase in graduate enrolments.

• Research developments: Significant research accomplishments by Aboriginal faculty and by others, including major developments in community-based research.

• Communications Strategy: Development of a communications strategy, including the Aboriginal Web Portal and the President’s Advisory Committee on Aboriginal Affairs.

• For the coming year: Faculty/Curriculum/Research, Aboriginal student engagement (Phase 2), Communications, Expanding resource base.
DISCUSSION

Dr. Rucker requested clarification about what would constitute a contentious cross-cultural discussion. Dr. Kesler stated that he would be happy to forward some illustrative documentation.

In response to a question from Mr. Hajian, Dr. Kindler stated that there was no quota system in place for Aboriginal students, but that the University was very open to admitting as many qualified Aboriginal applicants as presented themselves. Some competitive programs, e.g. the Doctor of Medicine, reserved a certain number of seats.

Dr. Kesler noted that a ceremony was to be held for Aboriginal graduands at the First Nations House of Learning in late May. A large percentage of graduands and their families usually attended, and Dr. Kesler invited Senators to join the celebration. Prof. Toope agreed, describing the ceremony as very moving.

In response to a questions from Mr. Dew and Ms. Aminoltejari, there had been discussion about how to improve communications with the Aboriginal community. Prof. Toope stated that a series of changes were underway with respect to how the University conceptualized and organized its communications efforts. Dr. Kesler highlighted some recent enhancements to the UBC Vancouver Aboriginal Portal (aboriginal.ubc.ca). He also gave an overview of efforts to alert Aboriginal people to the existence of the site, using communications channels familiar within Aboriginal communities.

Dr. Baimbridge noted the University’s reliance on willingness of Aboriginal students to self-identify, and asked about the working definition of “Aboriginal.” Dr. Kesler agreed that, given a long institutional and political history, defining who should be included within various groupings remained a topic of concern within Aboriginal communities, and that aspects of the discussion were contentious. “Aboriginal” had been chosen as the most inclusive word to describe people with ancestry original to Canada, and the University used it in the most inclusive way. Dr. Kesler described the regulation of Aboriginal identity under Canadian law as “a remarkable and byzantine thing.”

Dr. Öberg suggested that the programming of alternate keyword search terms such as “Indian,” “band,” and “native” into the www.ubc.ca website search engine would make the Aboriginal Portal easier for students to find.

Prof. Toope stated that he was thrilled about the work underway across all Faculties and units, and described the implementation of the Aboriginal Strategic Plan as a model for reporting back more broadly on the mid-level components of Place & Promise.

Update on NCAA Membership Discussions

The assembly recognized guest presenter Mr. Brian Sullivan, Vice-President, Students. Mr. Sullivan had circulated for information a report entitled “The UBC Vancouver Campus and NCAA Division II Membership: A Review of the Issues.”

On behalf of Senate, the President thanked Mr. Sullivan for his incredible work as Vice-President, Students, noting that students had benefited enormously from his wisdom.

Highlights of Mr. Sullivan’s presentation were as follows:

- Consultation timeline:
  - April, 2008 - Review Committee established to consider implications of a move to NCAA Division II;
  - March 19, 2009 - After a public consultation the Review Committee released the Consideration Memorandum;
  - April 16, 2009 - UBC Executive announced that the decision is being deferred pending more information;
  - February, 2011 – UBC Vancouver Campus and NCAA Division II Membership: A Review of the Issues was released.

- Issues Prompting 2008 Athletics Dept Recommendation to Leave CIS & NAIA:
CIS limits on student financial support prevent UBC from competing for the best Canadian athletes;

Large number of small universities joining the CIS and diluting the level of competition, displacing old rivalries, and undermining the quality of the UBC varsity experience.

Three recommendations from “consideration memorandum”:

Before making an NCAA application, UBC should seek exemption from the requirement that all NCAA members receive academic accreditation from a U.S. regional accrediting agency;

UBC prepare a communication plan to disseminate information about the NCAA decision-making process;

Regardless of decision, UBC appoint an advisory committee charged with building campus understanding of and support for the work of UBC Athletics & Recreation.

The NCAA declined to waive the accreditation requirement.

Attempts to resolve issues with the CIS have been unrewarded. CIS has declined to engage on the question of relaxing restrictions on student financial support. CIS has resisted efforts to create tiers that would protect the high level of competition.

CIS prohibits dual membership with the CIS and NCAA.

Since the first consultation it appears likely that NAIA will merge with NCAA within the next five years.

The SFU experience.

Points in favour of remaining in CIS/NAIA:

UBC student-athletes competing in the CIS would retain five years of eligibility, rather than four in the NCAA;

UBC is spared the expense and logistical challenges of seeking US accreditation;

UBC maintains traditional rivalries with Western Canadian universities other than SFU;

Sport specific impact of NCAA membership is significant for some sports;

UBC is a founding member of CIS; switching to NCAA may be perceived as undermining the organization;

NCAA membership requires student-athletes to write SATs;

It’s easier to stay; transition is challenging.

Points in favour of pursuing membership in NCAA Division II:

UBC could match scholarship offerings from SFU and other NCAA schools;
NCAA Update, continued

- Of the 29 sports in which UBC competes, NCAA offers 25; CIS offers 15;
- The eight sports currently competing in the NAIA would be protected;
- The long-standing rivalry with SFU would be retained;
- Membership in a US-based league builds international engagement;
- UBC’s visibility will be heightened, both institutionally and for international student recruitment;
- It would protect a high competitive standard for varsity athletes;
- Creation of a BC Division could end UBC’s traditional rivalries against large, like-minded universities in Western Canada.

- Consultation process:
  - Visit the website: www.students.ubc.ca/ncaa/;
  - Read the Report and encourage others to do the same;
  - Complete the online feedback forum;
  - Attend the Open Forums.

DISCUSSION

Prof. Toope reminded Senators that the report would be returning to Senate for a full discussion in March 2011, and suggested that the present discussion focus on the consultation framework and timeline. He expressed the opinion that early UBC discussion had been influenced by peoples’ personal prejudices in one direction or the other, and suggested that people consider the available data before drawing conclusions. The President acknowledged that he was personally struggling with this issue, and that he had no firm answer about the best way to proceed. He hoped that, whatever the outcome, the University would strike the right balance after a thorough and dispassionate discussion.

Mr. Embree noted the likelihood of NAIA merging with NCAA within the following five years, and asked whether UBC would be forced to join the NCAA at that point. Mr. Sullivan agreed that this possible merger was a factor in UBC’s decision making and gave an overview of recognized sports in the each of the NCAA as compared to the NAIA/CIS.
In response to a question from Dr. Brander, Mr. Sullivan stated that he was not aware of any NCAA member institutions that had been exempted from the accreditation requirement. Dr. Brander described the accreditation process as expensive and somewhat insulting for a Canadian university, but was pleased to see that the requirement was at least uniformly applied.

Dr. Ross stated that he was not particularly satisfied with any of the options before the University, and that he would be sad for UBC to lose the opportunity to compete for Canadian national championships. In response to a question, Mr. Sullivan stated that relatively few universities were mobilizing themselves to promote changes within the CIS. He noted that a need for change to the CIS had been felt for some time in the Canadian eastern and western provinces, while there remained a general level of comfort (and a large number of institutional votes) in central Canada. Prof. Toope described recent progress on CIS governance reform as positive, but modest. There had been no progress, however, on the substantive issues.

In response to a question, Mr. Sullivan stated that there was a wide variety of opinion among current UBC varsity athletes. Athletes were being encouraged to look beyond their personal preferences and consider what would be best for UBC as an institution.

In response to a question, Mr. Sullivan confirmed that UBC already easily exceeded the NCAA minimum financial assistance expenditure of $250 000.

In response to a question, Mr. Sullivan gave an overview of the balance between male and female sports under the NCAA, noting that, for example, there was no direct women’s equivalent to large men’s football programs.

Mr. Rasmussen raised the ethical issue of financial assistance having the effect of increasing access to post-secondary education for those who are good at sports. Mr. Sullivan agreed that this had been marked as a discussion point, and noted that universities had long traditions of providing financial assistance to support students with a wide variety of specific abilities, including athletic abilities. He added that funding for athletic scholarships was secured through fundraising rather than by drawing on university funds.

Mr. Mertens expressed gratitude for the additional information, indicating that many initial student concerns had been resolved. Because students remained concerned about the total potential costs associated with managing an NCAA membership, he suggested that the inclusion of data about total costs and plans to cover those costs would provide additional reassurance.

Prof. Toope thanked Mr. Sullivan for his presentation and Senators for their thoughtful comments.

Proposed Agenda Items

ASSOCIATE DEANS AS MEMBERS OF SENATE

Dr. Anstee requested that the topic of the eligibility of Associate Deans to serve as faculty representatives to Senate be included on agenda for the following meeting of the Senate.

Adjournment

There being no further business, the meeting was adjourned. The following regular meeting was scheduled for Wednesday, March 23, 2011.
